Your Products. Your Services. Our Insights.™

ABOUT US:

We are headquartered in Washington DC, in close proximity to space technology influencers from around the world.

Our team of industry professionals apply lessons learned to develop focused data sets and advanced analytical tools that expose hard-to-find information, derive novel industry and business insights, and eliminate inefficiencies so that organizations can spend more time on their core activities.

By connecting the space community's commercial, academic, government, and financial entities and easing the burden to maintain domain awareness in an ever-more complex industry, Global Space Exchange aims to accelerate the development of
